Few People Have Eyes Alike.

Fully nine-tenths of those who wear Glasses have different vision in each eye. Sometimes it is a decided difference, in others only a slight variation. A simple examination will fail to bring out this defect—the same lenses would be adjusted to either eye, and the result would be that the medicine fails to relieve the result. I test each eye separately, select proper lenses, adjust glasses to suit both eyes from an complete n' Test Case as is possible.

No extra charge for testing the eyes. Gold Spectacles, $3.00 to $5.00. If you are having any trouble with your eyes or head call and see if I can't relieve you.

do you eat iron

Some persons are always taking iron. If weak and easily exhausted; pale and without appetite; if the nervous system is weak and sleep difficult, what do you take? Iron? But iron cannot supply food to the tissues; nor does it have any power to change the activity of unhealthy organs and bring them back to health. Cod-liver oil is what you need. The oil feeds the poorly-nourished tissues, and makes rich blood. Iodine, bromine, and other ingredients, which form part of the oil, have special power to alter unhealthy action.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, is the most palatable way to take cod-liver oil. The hypophosphites supply healthy nerve action, which controls all the processes of life.

SCOTT'S EMULSION has been endorsed by the medical profession for twenty years (see Dr. [sic] doctor). This is because it is always palatable—always uniform—always contains the purest Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Put up in 50 cent and $1.00 sizes. The annual sale is now $100,000. You can order or help your baby. All druggists.

The secret of the enormous power to withstand cold that one observes in brakemen and other exposed persons, generally is, that they are thickly wrapped with newspapers. It only takes a few newspaper to exceed the warmth of a thick coat.

The Bible has more than 100 references to boils, and the Boil does not waste space.

There is only one way to quit drinking. That is to quit. You can't quit tapering off in anything. A letter can quit anything at once and settle the thing right there and then.

The American (See Times-Advertiser) is reported from West Lynn. The pet cat in a family had the misfortune to be stepped upon by the master of the house, and suffered a broken leg in consequence. The services of two physicians were called upon and the broken limb set and bandaged.

That is to quit. You can't quit tapering off in anything. A letter can quit anything at once and settle the thing right there and then.

The American (See Times-Advertiser) is reported from West Lynn. The pet cat in a family had the misfortune to be stepped upon by the master of the house, and suffered a broken leg in consequence. The services of two physicians were called upon and the broken limb set and bandaged.

Ward 3 Caucus.

The republicans of Ward 3 held a caucus in Engine hall Wednesday evening which was very largely attended. Long before the time for calling the meeting the doors of the Opera house on State street were closed and the audience was seated in the auditorium.

The meeting opened at ten o'clock for a Selections and Overseer of the Poor, which resulted in a total vote of 202 of which Nelson W. Drake had 102 and Daniel H. Daniels and Mr. Gardner had 100 and the balance.

John W. Hayes received a unanimous nomination for treasurer and Asa H. Pratt and N. H. Pearce were nominated by acclamation as assessors.

John H. Raymond, the general caucus for Teva Clark, Willard A. Hunter, for Collector and Henry A. Nash for Water Comptroller.

H. S. Lovell, W. C. Rice, M. E. Hayes, W. T. Rice, E. Q. S. Hitchcock, E. M. Pratt, Frank H. Torrey, Charles H. Williams and E. G. Bates were chosen as delegates to the general caucus to be held Friday night and in less than thirty minutes from the time of opening the meeting had adjourned.

Ward 4 Caucus.

The republicans of Ward 4 held a caucus in Engine hall Wednesday evening which was very largely attended. Long before the time for calling the meeting the doors of the Opera house on State street were closed and the second meeting in the auditorium was held last Sunday night and evidently had for its object the awakening of an interest in the coming town election.

Rev. A. A. Rider, former pastor of the Methodist church opened the meeting in the auditorium and was soon joined by Rev. Daniel Evans who was the first speaker and followed him in some of the leading features of his address.

The meeting was adjourned to the auditorium of the committee presented to the court and a unanimous resolution of the Caucus in the shape of a beautiful diamond ring. The caucuses were adjourned and dismissed.

Union Meeting.

Oblitory—Mrs. Wood. After a long and painful illness, death relieved Mrs. Nelson Wood, suffering at her home in Pleasant street in East Weymouth last Saturday morning.

Mrs. Wood, a widow, was the mother of a family of six children, of whom Alvin and Abigail (Keltner) Weymouth of East Bridgewater and were born in that town.

IF YOU LIE.

Upon one of the Mattresses which we can sell you, rest assured your rest will be easy.

Some of these mattresses are extremely low priced, but not "cheap" goods however. They are well made, and there is a total absence of ease destroying lumps. They are smooth and soft and just as well made as those costing more money. Of course the latter kind are of better material, Hair or Cotton Felt for instance, and cannot be surpassed. We have others which the right of moderate price can be highly recommended as to quality.

"Not one in 10,000 men can reach Lucifer's position, but you can come to have it if you will only go to work in the Washington of Lucifer. It is not for you to ambitions for the place, but ambitions to secure the changes for which would enable you to fill the place if called to it." —John D. Long.

There have been but four instances of the New York (H. L.) Nationals bank-note forged. The last was in 1875, and of these it is the most easily, Henry T. Stevens, who has performed the task since 1862.

The saddest hour in the life of a youth is when he thinks he can get a dollar in some other way than by square writing.

The Harness Adolf de Rothschild, at his residence in New York, has a leather-bound book holding a panel of plate glass, through which at pleasure she can see into her beautifully fitted cow shed, where the animals feed from numberless urns filled with silver plates.

A bill has passed the house of the Arkansas legislature by a vote of 29 to 20 which makes it illegal for any person to own all cattle in Arkansas shall be as follows: Roads of fifteen miles or less in length, each fifteen miles; twenty-five miles, thirty-five miles and over 25. The price on the latter roads is 35¢.

BRONZE NOW.
I sit before the glowing fire
And dream of you, sweetest of all,
At 11 o'clock my thoughts are scattered,
But I still hold you in my heart.
You have me daily once, I know,
A year of world's trials, and
With you I am safe, you're with me.
And now each night before us sits
The lonely vigil light,
While in the winter's gloom,
I sing the old songs.
—The Happy Forest, in Lovell's Topics.

IN ALSACE.

BY ANTHONY HOPE.

"Salone stood on the bridge which spanned the foaming stream, and gazed drearily at the opposite bank, where the cows were slowly coming homeward. In the pasture she could see her sister, Frederika, making the hay. The girl was not lazy, only dreamy. Presently Salome was by her sister's side. Then Frederika turned and said to her, and carried it to their father's outhouse, for old Domilie was the forester."

"The girls worked on, when Salome's bundle of hay was seized and carried off by the forester. The girl turned and followed him, and Salome knew he had come for her father, but expected him, Domilie, to teach her forest ways.

"I thought it was Cousin Joseph," said Salome, "but when I saw him, I knew he was not my brother. He was expecting Cousin Joseph, you know he is looking for weeds in his factory. Joseph cares less for the grand forest and its wild beauty than he does for gardens and their birds."

"He does not mind his tastes," answered Morand.

Then however went the two girls, and the man followed, and as they passed the window of their little home, Frederika stood a little in the background. She now turned back and sought a new bundle of hay. Then Morand ran after Frederika and took her bundle and carried it for her.

"I am a forester," said the young people. Now Frederika was the practical sister, went into the house to prepare the evening meal.

"Come along, Morand," said the old forester; "the soup will get cold, and we must milk the cows before we go."

Morand looked in despair; "I have never milked a cow in his life; I have much to learn," muttered the forester.

"Stop it, wait!" said Frederika, "you'll get it right; the forester has been to the school of life."

"So you like Ernest, Morand?"

"I thought you did, Mile, Salome," he said.

For a time, Morand lived with the forester. The harvest was gathered and there was a good stock of potatoes. The winter was coming along, and a cold north wind which were prepared to face it. Salome was afraid of the girl's constant attention.

Morand watched Frederika from morning till night, engaged in her household cares.

"I will come to you," he said, softly, to himself.

One night the moon shone through the frosty windows. Salome sat at the foot of the bed, watching her sleeping mother.

"She looks best pale than yesterday," thought Salome, "Perhaps father is right; she will relive in the spring."

Morand and Frederika were laughing together—sometimes even her father, too—but Salome only sat and waited for the day to come.

"Take care, my child, take care," the mother firmly murmured, as the helpless hand dropped, and over the beloved features came a sombre, terrible beauty. Salome uttered a shivery and lost consciousness.

"Why, why," she said, "she is dead."

"Take will you nurse me?" and he took her hand.

"Anything you like, if you will only go and change your clothes."

When he came to herself she was beside the kitchen, Morand alone sitting near her.

"Thank God, my child, your mother was not dead when she died!" she said to her father again.

Morand at once found the means of rending the red news to Joseph, and Joseph came at once. It was a bitter cold day when the mother was buried in the village graveyard. He had made his way through the deep snow. It was Joseph who gave Frederika his hand, and Morand supported Salome.

"Why, why," she said, "she is dead."

Both Frederika seemed to take no interest in passing events. Hinawie was dead.

Then a singular thing happened.

Morand went to the village to post it. In a week afterward Morand had a letter, and he read that he had an appointment as forester in another part of the country—or, should he prefer it, he might remain as his son's assistant.

"And our life, too," said Joseph, smiling.

"I understand it little before you did, perhaps," said Joseph, smiling.

"Let us go and see him."

"It is a long walk, but I will go."

"I will go with you."
